

COLUMBIA INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS ONLINE (CIAO)

The renowned international affairs website, features a redesigned user interface that standardizes the access and presentation of content, more video assets, a live Twitter feed, and improved search functionality.

CIAO is the world's largest full-text online resource for political science, diplomatic history, international law and business, policy formation, and country analysis. Encompassing more than 400,000 pages of working papers, policy briefs, interviews, journal articles, and e-books in the field of international relations, CIAO is a dynamic resource that is constantly growing. More than 280 leading academic and research institutions, publishers, government agencies, and journals worldwide contribute to CIAO.

CIAO features original case studies written by leading experts in their fields, course packs of background readings for history and political science classes, and interviews with the world's leading international relations experts.

SPECIAL FEATURES

- Complete updating and additional materials—more than 45,000 new pages during a twelve-month period
- In-depth political and economic data from the Economist Intelligence Unit
- A monthly CIAO Focus—an outstanding tool for classroom discussions
- Textbook instruction for undergraduate and graduate/postgraduate courses, as well as research opportunities for lecture preparation and reference

PRAISE FOR CIAO

Named one of the top 300 websites by the International Political Science Association

"So rich in content and so well suited to the needs of serious researchers that we recommend it without hesitation."—Library Journal

"Highly recommended."—Choice

For subscription information, contact Herbert Plummer, hp2356@columbia.edu or call (212) 459-0600, ext. 7112

To contribute, contact Daniel LoPreto, dvl2113@columbia.edu

For a free trial, log onto WWW.CIAONET.ORG or e-mail columbiaonline@columbia.edu